

The Society of Hypertext. Modern L@byrinh?

Lecturer: Ewa Musiałowska M.A.

Winter Term: 2005/2006

ZKM | Wrocław University

Course Description

Ewa Musiałowska M.A.

Name of the course: The Society of Hypertext. Modern Labyrinth?

Language: English

30 hours (in Blocks)

Credits: Presentation, Short Essay

ECTS: 5

Winter Term 2005/2006

Open for both Socrates and regular students

The Society of Hypertext? Threat or opportunity? The answers to these questions are open. The seminar provides insight into existing structures of World Wide Web and offers an overview of changing media environment. It encompasses the role of the Internet in everyday life, particularly aspects related to democracy (eGovernment), social relationships (eCommunities), online firms (eBusiness) and activities in other areas that stimulate Networked Society. Consisting of two integral parts, the course is designed to provide participants both with theoretical framework and concrete case studies. Enrolled students will be given a Reader (set of selected texts) which enables broader exploration of the impact of the modern media. The seminar will be conducted in English :)

Contact Info:

Ewa Musiałowska

E-mail: e.v.e@wp.pl

Website: www.musialowska.com